

Altura Post Office Is Being Downsized

Post Office Management wants to shut down much of the work currently being done at the Altura Station Postal Facility, moving more than 80% of the employees out of the station. This will hamper the renewal of the north side of Aurora, inconvenience many current customers and inevitably lead to the eventual closure of the Altura Station.

Fletcher Post Office Is Being Downsized

In spite of promises to the community to the contrary, Post Office Management wants to shut down much of the work currently being done at the Fletcher Station Postal Facility, moving more than 80% of the employees out of the station. This will hamper the renewal of Old Aurora, inconvenience many current customers and inevitably lead to the eventual closure of Fletcher Station.
